Federal Tax Incentives for LTCi

The 1996 Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) provides favorable tax treatment of premiums and benefits for qualified LTCi policies. The law allows taxpayers to deduct certain LTCi premiums and unreimbursed LTC expenses paid on behalf of themselves or their dependents. It also provides that employer-sponsored LTCi plans qualify for the same favorable tax treatment as health plans.

The federal tax incentives are as follows:

1. Employer premium contributions for qualified LTCi are excludable from employee income, except for contributions under a cafeteria plan or flexible spending account/arrangement. Employers may deduct their qualified premium contributions as trade or business expenses.
2. Self-employed individuals may deduct qualified LTCi premiums as health insurance expenses, under special rules with specified maximum caps.
3. Tax-free distributions from medical and health savings accounts may be used to pay qualified LTCi premiums up to specified maximum caps.
4. Qualified LTCi premiums not covered by provisions 1-3 are deductible from income, as itemized medical expenses, to the extent that such expenses exceed 7.5 percent of adjusted gross income, with specified maximum caps. The maximum caps for the annual amount of qualified LTCi premium eligible for the tax favored treatment in provisions 2-4 are indexed for inflation and increase with attained age, currently ranging from $320 for policyholders up to age 40 to $3,980 for policyholders beyond age 70 (see chart below).

IRS Maximum Federal Income Tax Deductible Amounts for 2009

Age	Maximum Deductible Limit Per-Individual
Under Age 40	$320
41-50	$600
51-60	$1,190
61-70	$3,180
Over 70	$3,980

Internal Revenue Code § 7702B(d)(4) states that for calendar year 2009, the per diem limitation regarding periodic payments received under a qualified LTCi contract is $280. Amounts over the $280 daily limit could be taxed unless used for qualified LTC services.

For example, if you received home care and it totaled $300 per day and your benefits paid $300 per day ($9,000 Monthly Benefit), you would be over the $280 per diem limitation by $20 (or $600 per month), but because the surplus is paying for qualified LTC services, it would not be taxed. However, if your home care totaled $280 per day and your benefits paid $300 per day ($9,000 Monthly Benefit), there is a possibility that the additional $20 (or $600 per month) could be taxed.

The information in this flyer is current through December 2008 and is subject to change. Taxpayers may need to meet state specific requirements to qualify for deductions or credits for LTCi.
